OSFIELD OLD STAND

WHY DON'T YOU Use Electricity

for Lighting

It is certainly cheaper than oil, costing only 1 1/2 cents per night for a 16 candle power light.

It is less trouble, needs no attention and is always ready.

It is safer, and where used will reduce insurance if oil is entirely eliminated.

There is no danger from fire.

Lines will be extended to any part of town where the business warrants such extension and the consumer can have either the same flat rate as was used by the former management, or if the consumer so desires a meter will be installed.

If you are thinking of using electricity, let us know and someone will call upon you to give any information you may desire.

THE MAN WITH THE COW

By Cyrus H. Walker.

The following poem was read before the Linn County Council, P. of H., at Grand Prairie Hall, April 7, 1906. At the request of a number of our farmer subscribers, we re-print it for the benefit of our readers:

Upon the handles of his well worn plow
The weary farmer leans, and with his gaze

Intently fixed upon the ground, he thinks.
The latest beams of light from setting sun,

Touching the far-off, floating, fleecy clouds,
Transfigures them to silver, red and gold,

Giving promise of a bright tomorrow.
The tiresome toils of day are nearly o'er
And soon the farmer will seek his farm-house home

To find a needed rest, and needed cheer.
For years he's tilled these acres broad and grand
And once they yielded largest crops of grain

That surely brought a large and glad reward;
But now, they give each year a lessening yield
And lessened price; far less than profit makes.

And, worst of all, there rests upon his land
A mortgage strong and heavy to be borne.

Although 'tis early spring and birds of song
Begin to carol sweet and thrilling lays,
There is no ray of joyous, heaven-born hope

Seen in his down-cast eyes, for well he knows
That when two scores of months have fully passed
The mortgage must be met, or all be lost.

How can he part with this paternal home,
Where died loved ones, a doubly dear old home
Around which cluster fondest memories?

But hark! a sound borne by the evening breeze
Comes to his ear. It is the low tinkling
Of a bell, worn by Old Jersey, faithful cow.

As home she wends her way, to add her wealth
Of creamy store to family larder.
A sudden inspiration seizes him,
Unwonted light shines in his earnest eyes.

And words express, at last, his pent-up thoughts,
"I have it now! I'll sell my surplus stock
And all of else that I can spare, and buy
More cows, whose milk a creamery shall find

And stand in quality the highest test:
These lands, so long in use for raising grain,
Soon shall bring, the finest of red clover."

With light elastic step and happy mind,
He drives his tired, but willing horses home;
And hastening to his wife his plan unfolds
Who heartily approves with joyful tears.

Sleep quite a stranger is to both of them
Thro' all the waiting hours of restless night.
When morning comes, it sees the boys and girls,
But truly lads and lassies, strong for work.

Tho' still gladly attending district school,
Wild with desire to try the forlorn hope
Where onward sweep may grandly save the farm.
Soon sales are made and best of cows are bought.

And extra strong tin cans to hold the milk
That in the early morn in summer months
To a nearby creamery plant is hauled.
The farming work goes on with rapid pace.

The lower lands to different grass seeds sown
Will give a varied pasture for the stock
Ere spring time's copious showers are passed.
Red clover seed is cast among the wheat.

Oats, rye or cheat, put in the previous fall.
While buckwheat, vetches, flaxseed, rape and peas,
Find place with timothy already grown.

In garden plot fine vegetables are raised,
While in one field is planted best of corn,
And also one to Ireland's staff of life.
Good breeds of chickens, hogs and goats or sheep

Are bought, and some Italian honey bees.
Choice bushes, vines and trees, for nuts or fruit
Are set on rolling land, to give return
Certain and large in future years, and thus
In most helpful ways and intensive

EXPENSIVE FOOLISHNESS

Referendum on Appropriation Bill Will Cost Taxpayers of Oregon Nearly $20,000.

It is now known that the big appropriation bill, which was submitted to a vote of the people by the use of the Populist referendum, has been approved by a majority vote. The bill provides for a total appropriation of $1,044,439, a part of which is apportioned as follows:

Insane asylum.....$518,750
Penitentiary.....125,000
Reform school.....62,100
Deaf mute school.....41,100
Blind school.....21,000
State University.....62,500
Agricultural college.....80,000
Monmouth normal school.....36,000
Ashland normal school.....31,000
Drain normal school.....21,000
Weston normal school.....25,000

When the official count is made and the Secretary of State finds that the bill has been approved, he will so certify to the Governor, who will issue a proclamation officially announcing the fact; then the several sums appropriated will be available from the state treasury.

During the past 15 months, certificates of indebtedness have been issued to the employees of those state institutions provided for the care and education of the wards of the state. These certificates are held by the banks and by private individuals in various parts of the state who cashed them for the owners with the expectation that the state would pay interest on them.

Now that the bill has been approved, the state treasurer will call in these certificates and will pay them at their face value, as he is not authorized to pay any interest.

But the matter will not end there. Those who cashed the certificates think they are entitled to interest and will go before the Legislature next winter to get it, as it means considerable to those who have invested large sums. According to figures published in Tuesday's Salem Statesman, the total amount of these certificates, issued before June 1 of this year, is $425,000 and the amount of interest due at 6 per cent to July 1, 1906, at which time payment will be made, is $17,680.

This is figured from the first day of the month, allowing the issue of the above amounts and the interest charge will consequently vary and be a little more than the above sum. This will be recognized by some of the taxpayers as quite an item to pay to satisfy the referendum trial.

GOOD MEN RECOGNIZED

Many Old-Time Polk County Citizens Elected to Office in Oregon This Year.

It has been said that "All of Oregon's great men got their start in Old Yamhill." While it is true that our neighbor county on the North has added largely to the list of "notables," she will have to look well to her laurels if she expects to hold them. Polk county is rapidly coming to the front as a producer of famous men, as a glance at the election returns of the various counties in the state will show.

Julius N. Hart, a former School Superintendent of Polk county, and later Prosecuting Attorney for the Third Judicial District, has been elected to the State Senate from the district embracing Baker, Harney and Malheur counties.

Dr. J. N. Smith, elected State Senator from Marion county, was for many years a practicing physician in Dallas.

B. A. Washburn, one of the newly-elected Representatives from Lane county, was at one time engaged in the milling business at Rickreall.

John Bones, the lengthy statesman for whom Yamhill county will claim credit in the next House of Representatives, first became famous as a politician while tilling the soil in the classic Goose-neck Valley, Polk county.

John Hyde, a pioneer druggist of Dallas, was re-elected to the office of County Treasurer in Lincoln county by an overwhelming majority.

T. T. Vincent, the new Recorder of Benton county, will be remembered by all the older people of Polk county as a wielder of the birch in the Rickreall public school in the days that were young.

R. F. Robinson, a former Principal of LaCreole Academy and Superintendent of Polk county schools, is the efficient School Superintendent of Multnomah county.

W. C. Bryant, once a teacher in the Falls City public school, is Superintendent of Schools in Sherman county. And there may be others.
